

2017 Board of Directors Election
Candidate Slate

Dr. Carole Miller

A native of Wilmington, DE, Carole Miller moved to Baltimore in 1980 after graduating from University of Maryland College Park to attend University of Maryland Medical School. She then completed a residency in Internal Medicine and fellowship in Medical Oncology at Johns Hopkins and joined the faculty as part of the Bone marrow transplant program. She was on the faculty for 12 years with a specialization in blood cancer. She served on the FDA Biologics Advisory Panel, the ASBMT executive council, and multiple committees at Hopkins. She moved to St Agnes in 2002 to be director of the Cancer Center and is currently Oncology service line chair for Ascension Health. She has published more than 60 articles in medical journals and was National Woman of the Year in 2008 for the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society. She is active in her community. She has a daughter Lauren living in NYC and a son Matthew living in LA, both in the arts.